We Guarantee Re-Conditioned Model "T" Fords

Usually, when a person buys a new Ford from us, he has by no means exhausted the transportation in his old car. We have several bargains in unused mileage in our showroom right now, awaiting second owners. Naturally, the prices are so low that you could easily afford to have one—possibly for that second car, which will solve your family's transportation problem.

Model "T" Fords are thoroughly re-conditioned and guaranteed. We also have other makes of cars for second owners—priced according to the unused service in them.

Regarding our used-car prices, remember this: There is no "padding" to care for excessive trade-in allowances, for the price of the new Ford is so low—so close to the cost of production and selling that there is no leeway for unreasonable trade-in concessions. When you buy a used car from us you pay just what it is worth, and no more. We would hardly care to risk our reputation and good-will by following any other policy.

IN AND AROUND THE CLUB

The "leatherpushing" fraternity are well represented in this district at present by Frankie Jackson, Billy Drain and Ronnie Daines, all intending to get fit in the harvest fields. No no, Gladys, we did not say "fits."

The next arrival we hope will be Vic Skeriton of Regina, the boy who is claiming recognition as the feather weight champion of Western Canada, and who was such a sensation in his last two fights in Calgary.

A heading in one of the city newspapers asks "Who consumes all Alberta's liquor?" We don't know the lady or we might be able to answer.

Ask Tom the story about the Cowpuncher. We would tell it but dare not infringe on his copyright.

Our friends the "new farmers" are busy throwing up wheat sheaves. The last time we saw them they were throwing up something else.

S. and M. are not dead though you might think so. They are busy mapping out their winter program, which will no doubt be a scheme to get our rummy money.

We heard a guy complaining the other day about having a few rubber chques always bouncing back at him.

Always drive close to pedestrians in wet weather. The Dry Cleaners will erect a monument to your memory.

The Frigidair can never replace the ice man!

How do you like the flavor of our imported dust?

We will soon be hearing the old curling and hockey talk—Well, we talked hockey last year, didn't we?

Well, so long. May meet you over a hard boiled egg in Tommy's lunch room.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Alex. Bowie

Friends in Vulcan heard with regret on Monday, of the death of Edith, wife of Alex. Bowie, which sad event took place in the general hospital, Calgary on Sunday last, after a brief sickness.

The deceased lady was well known in Vulcan and before her marriage to Mr. Bowie had acceptably filled a position at the Imperial hotel.

Mrs. Bowie was sixty years of age at the time of her death, and sympathy is extended to the surviving relatives and friends.

The funeral took place in Calgary.

FIRST CAR OF WHEAT

Chet Wallace, manager of the Parish and Heimbecker Elevator loaded the first car of wheat on record in Vulcan this season, on Wednesday last. The wheat was from the farm of B. J. Mensinger, and the yield was exceptionally heavy for the dry year.

VULCAN RESIDENTS VISIT OLD LAND

Constable Bull, of the Alberta Provincial Police, has recently returned from the old country where he has been spending three months' vacation accompanied by Mrs. Bull.

Leaving Vulcan on May 2nd they proceeded to Quebec via Toronto, Niagara and Ottawa, sailing from the former place on the 10th and after calling at Greenock and Belfast, arrived at Liverpool on the 18th.

Mr. and Mrs. Bull made their headquarters at Cambridge, with the former's parents, and from there made an auto trip through the eastern counties to Edinburgh (Mrs. Bull's home) via York, returning via the Lake district. During this delightful journey Flatford Mill, near Ipswich, (the home of Constable, the artist) was visited, as also were the Forth Bridge and Edinburgh Castle, where the most beautiful war shrine, with the names of fallen heroes, displayed in stained glass windows, made a deep impression on both. Greta Green, famous for marriages under Scottish law, was also visited and Cauldbeck (John Peel's home), Shakespeare's residence and Anne Hathaway's cottage were also seen enroute.

While away Mr. Bull had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Herbert Greenfield ex-premier of Alberta, at the Canada house in London. He also was pleased to visit the homes of several residents of Vulcan and district.

The tourists brought back delightful reminders of the trip in the shape of snapshots and souvenirs and arrived back here on August 2nd after a real holiday full of enjoyable and interesting experiences but glad to be back in Vulcan which is, after all, their home.

Things politically in the old country were not found to be as disturbed, says Mr. Bull as might have been expected. The advent of Labor government had not aroused any noticeable degree of concern, the public having believed, accepted it philosophically and calmly, and matters were proceeding smoothly and without excitement.

So far as social conditions are concerned, there was evidence enough of unemployment, particularly in the mining districts, but on the other hand there were signs of a better distribution of wealth, while hosts of people in England and Scotland are having better times than ever before. Motor transportation had revolutionized the old country.

A visit was paid while in London to the Alberta office, which he says is doing good and useful work as official representative of this province at the heart of the Empire. Advantage is being taken of the office to an increasing degree not only in connection with emigration, but as a means of keeping in touch with British capital, which is now keenly interested in Canadian and especially western investments. Herbert Greenfield, as agent for the province, has already had many inquiries about industrial possibilities in Alberta.

MILO AND LOMOND BADLY HIT BY HAIL

Southern Alberta sections were riddled by hail on Saturday and the Milo and Lomond districts were hit the hardest, crops lying in the path of the storm suffering to the extent of 50 per cent. or more.

In the Milo district the storm accompanied by a furious gale wrought serious devastation. Sweeping in from the northwest it plowed its way through the heart of the district destroying 50 per cent. of the standing crops ripening for the harvest. The Arrowwood section north of Milo also suffered.

At Lomond the crops east of town were the sufferers a strip of 12 miles long and 10 miles wide being damaged about 50 per cent. although accurate estimates at this time are difficult. The storm moved east to the Bow river leaving a path of destruction in its wake.

Altogether about 10,000 acres of grain were destroyed in the districts named, and it is worth while to note that this territory has been so free from hail that the rate is only seven per cent., also it may be mentioned that such was the confidence in immunity from storms of this kind that very few of the farmers affected had thought it worth while to carry hail insurance.

Among those who suffered loss are: Magnuson Bros., 600 acres; W. D. Baker, 100 acres; J. Bell, 500 acres; Tom Chapman, 300 acres; Haley, 400 acres; Coldwell, 110 acres;

MANY GUESTS ATTEND LOCAL WEDDING

Brief reference was made in these columns last week to the Holmes-Leppard wedding which took place here on August 7th. We now have pleasure in giving further details which were not obtainable in time for issue of the 8th.

The soft green of the altar, banked with ferns, gladioli, snapdragons and sweet peas in pastel shades, formed the setting for the marriage of Minnie Hildred Holmes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Holmes of Vulcan, formerly of Claresholm, and Eugene Emerson Leppard, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Leppard of Calgary, which was performed on August 7, at 9 p.m. at the home of the bride's parents. Rev. John Brunton of Vulcan, performed the ceremony.

The bride entered the drawing room with her father, who gave her in marriage, while the wedding march was played by William Moffatt of Claresholm. Her lovely gown was of ivory moire, fashioned with tiered skirt forming an uneven hemline, and her veil of ivory Chantilly lace was held in place with the conventional orange blossoms. Her bouquet was a shower of Madame Butterfly and Ophelia roses.

Miss Kathleen Holmes, the bride's sister, acted as bridesmaid. Her frock of flesh georgette was made in bouffant style with overskirt of blue tulle and pink georgette. Her flowers were a shower bouquet of pink and white sweet peas.

Harold Reiber of Edmonton, acted as best man.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Norman Holmes, chose for the occasion a gown of black net and moire over ivory chiffon and her corsage was of Ophelia roses.

Following the ceremony the reception was held, the table being centred with pink and white peas, flanked by tall pink tapers. The toast to the bride was proposed by J. Wolfe of Vulcan.

Out of town guests at the wedding included: Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Leppard and Miss Helen Leppard, Calgary; Mrs. L. Elsieley, Calgary; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Gaetz, Raymond; Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Rogers, Granum; Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Munro, Claresholm; Miss Kathleen Holmes, High River; Miss C. McIntyre, Claresholm; Harold Reiber, Edmonton; George H. Stacey, Lethbridge; W. G. Moffatt, Claresholm.

Later, Mr. and Mrs. Leppard left by motor for Vancouver, Seattle and other coast cities, the bride travelling in a Deje model gown of brown chiffon, with matching fox fur. Upon their return they will reside at Morley, Alberta.

LOCAL ITEMS

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Allan and family are now on vacation at Waterton Lakes.

Mr. Arthur McGregor of the McGregor or Construction Co., Edmonton, was a visitor in town last week. He visited Mr. Crumher who is a patient in the Municipal Hospital here.

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Wallace and daughter, Arlene, returned last Sunday from a motor trip over the Banff-Windermere highway. They stopped a few days at Waterton Park on their trip, and report an enjoyable time.

Grading work on the road west of town from Richmond Hill corner to the Little Bow is decidedly improved. This road is much travelled by farmers and pleasure seekers who swim in the Bow.

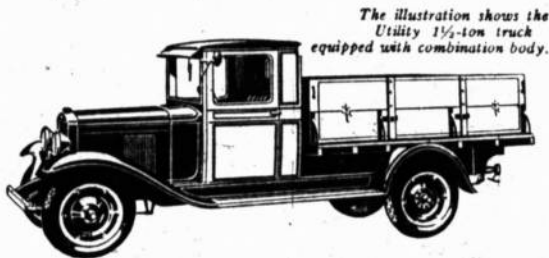

A pocket directory and booster guide for Vulcan has been issued from this office and is being much appreciated; copies may be had free. Inadvertently the business of Radio Sales and Service was omitted. This necessary occupation has been successfully carried on for some time by Mr. James Taylor who may now be found at the Dodge show rooms—his advertisement appears in these columns.

A very enjoyable evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Ottewell on Monday evening when a number of the town boys gave their son a surprise party on his 15th birthday. Gordon Schenck invited him to his home, while the other boys arrived at the former's home and then brought Walter back to be greeted by the boys who were congregated in the front room. The evening was spent in playing court whist. Master Bob Munro won the honors while Royce Clark won the consolation prize. A dainty luncheon was served at midnight. Walter received many gifts from the boys and was completely taken by surprise.

FIRE HAZARD IN CROP

Never before, in the history of Southern Alberta harvesting, has the fire hazard in grain fields been so serious, according to C. S. Noble of Noblefeld. Through the Lethbridge Herald, Mr. Noble warns farmers of the danger from the exhaust pipe of trucks and tractors used so much today in harvesting by the combine method. It was the exhaust from a truck which caused the fire on the Cameron ranch recently, which burned over about 100 acres, but of which only 15 acres was standing grain, the remainder being stubble, so the loss was not large. "I thought at one time the whole section of wheat was going to go," said Mr. Noble. He advises that the exhaust pipes of both trucks and tractors where they come in contact with the stubble should be wrapped with asbestos and otherwise protected and that fire extinguishers, barrels of water with wet sacks and other fire fighting paraphernalia should be carried so long as the ground and the crop is as dry as it is now. Mr. Noble said he had never seen a grain field on fire, but had heard of heavy losses from this cause in Kansas, and was quite willing to believe that wide-spread damage could be caused in this manner.

USE BOTH ARMS

Inspector Davitt of the Provincial Police has issued a series of warnings to the public. Drivers' licenses are to be checked up carefully and must be properly signed with the signature of the holder. In this connection, he warns people never to leave licenses in their cars. A B. C. man had his car stolen. His license signed was in the car. The thief, signed the license and going to a bank used the license as a means of identification in cashing a cheque for several hundred dollars.

The one armed driver is likely to be discouraged henceforth. There will also be check-up of people driving three and four in the front seat. Already in Toronto, several prosecutions on these grounds have been made and convictions secured.

TARIFF ON FEEDERS

The trade of the United States with Canada is advantageous to the United States and is something with which this country "might well afford to be content," says the Monthly Circular of the National City Bank of New York. The Bank raises objection to the proposed increases in the tariff on feeder cattle, saying that its wisdom may be questioned according to general views. The supply of cattle in the United States at the moment is low, the circular says, and the immediate effect of any exclusion of Canadian cattle "is to intensify the scarcity and the price of beef." While production might be stimulated, the bank thinks production would increase in any case.

"Another feature of the situation the circular continues, 'is that the corn producing farmers of the Middle West want these young Canadian cattle for feeders to consume their corn. The cattle duty is more of an irritant than anything else. It is a fair question whether the gain from the proposed increases which are so objectionable to Canada are worth the controversy over them.'

CAMPER AND THE CAMP FIRE

Q.—How can I be certain my camp fire is out?

A.—Thoroughly puddle your fire by using a stick and pouring water on the embers, stirring them up as you pour. Be sure to get the water into any crevices in the rock on which your fire should be built. If the fire is not made on rock, after applying the water, cut a trench about twelve inches deep all around the fire about six or twelve inches from the margin, throw the loose earth, not the sods, on top of the fire, and puddle with more water. Be sure no insignificant little rootlet, charred or smouldering, is left to start up the flames again. Keep in mind that the most insignificant spark contains a latent forest conflagration.

MEN AND COMBINES

It is estimated that 7500 combines will be at work in the prairie provinces this fall as compared with 5000 last year. It has been figured that these machines will save 1,050,000 man-labor days in all. The average number of working days for the harvesters from the East is about 40. So the combines replace the hand labor of 25,000 men.

The influx of harvesters during the fall season, usually means a living up of business in many small towns. These men must be fed and they must be clothed. This year, there will be less money in circulation in the West in the form of wages. But the individual farmer who has dispensed with manual labor will have more (once the machine is paid for) and there is no question as to his wife's sentiments in the matter.

U. S. RUM CAPITAL

The Business of Supplying Liquor to Wets is Hazardous

The "Rum Capital" of dry America according to the New York Times is the little village of Ecorse which lies in the shadow of Detroit. By day it is a sleepy, stagnant village with a foreign air. By nightfall it is changed—strained activity succeeds the quiet. Afloat and ashore the motors throb in the rum running adventure. It becomes the centre of a teeming industry, and the casual visitor senses the ominous strained atmosphere and sticks to the lighted corners.

At Ecorse the Detroit river is narrow, only four minutes across by motor boat—and though Ecorse itself remains in darkness, yet the shores are alive with signal lights winking mysteriously.

A Canadian regulation requires that all rum boats be clear of the liquor piers before nightfall. So the rum runners load up and drop down the river till darkness sets in. Then they wait for signals, and this is the most hazardous feature of all. But with luck and by dodging the prohibition officers, just four minutes risk lies between them and safety.

The river is a no-man's land, where a whisper, a flash of light means danger.

For two miles or more the waterfront is burrowed like rabbit warrens with cellar doors opening almost at river level and permitting unsuspected entrances to points far inland, and despite best efforts of prohibition officers, Ecorse villagers by cunning, land enormous cargoes.

In the cafes of the village are big figures with rows of numerals $35—$45; $48—$60, etc. These represent the prices of various liquors on the Canadian side and the price after landing. At times the figures shift violently depending on the danger involved. Easy days bring a drop in ferry charges of $1 to $5 for landing a case, while the tightening of the net, shoves up the price to $10 for that 4 minute hazard in no man's land.

WHO WILL EARN THEM

If our great grandfathers were suddenly to revisit the earth, not least of their sources of puzzlement would be the highways strewn with damaged cars. They would no doubt conclude that some mysterious warfare was being waged, and was being confined exclusively to highways. Indeed it appears much like that even to those who have kept pace with the growing hazards of motor travel. To take a man "for a ride" in Chicago, has only one dark meaning, but all unwittingly it is beginning to carry sinister significance to everyone. It may easily happen in time, that the rewards of warfare will be applied to motor travel, in reverse form. The driver who has seen twenty years of motor service without being involved in casualties will get the D.C.M. Other titles may be conferred on those who in crises have acted promptly. Service stripes may be worn, and other insignia denoting honorable service on the modern battle fields.

PAPER WITH A CONSCIENCE

The town of Hanna was organized 17 years ago, August 4th, and the Herald in referring to its growth says "Hanna has seen many and various adventures. Crop failures, through drought, hail and frost have combined to weed out the weaker and more easily discouraged settler. But we have had our prosperous years, not a few of them too. And on the whole Hanna has made as much progress as any other town in the province of Alberta.

And let us add that much credit is due to the Editor of the Hanna Herald for the healthy condition prevailing in that district. For in and out of season, The Herald has published one of the best papers in Canada, and in the editorial news columns it was always evident upon perusal that it was a "paper with a conscience."

GROW UP

Frank Swinnerton, English novelist says that the world is suffering from worn nerves, due to noise and excitement. He believes that youth is overbooked, with young and middle-aged people all wanting to be Peter Pans. They hate to grow up and look seriously at life; Jazz before duty.

"What the world needs now" he continues, "is less childishness and more sense. If our Peter Pans would consent to grow up we should have less childishness and more fun; a world fit for adults to live in.

The death of H. C. Witwer, humorous writer of sport and prize fight stories, will be greatly regretted by admirers of his "classics in slang."

SPEAKING OF YOU,
SIR,

WHEN you interview a respected patron, Mr. Business man, or a firm's representative you naturally endeavor to make a good impression. You are punctilious about clothes and general appearance. Of course you are. It's good business.

Then why be satisfied when you correspond to allow a poor piece of paper, indifferently printed, represent you to the heads of the firms or to that same patron. After all the stationery is your "paper self" interviewing your business associates. Why not keep it "dressed" properly too?

The Vulcan Advocate Job Department gives intelligent study to every piece of printing. The dress is "fitted" to the subject

AVIATION TOO SAFE

If you want to know how reliable and dependable modern commercial aviation is study first the figures which show how astonishingly few accidents—indefinitely fewer than on the roads—have occurred in the great air services between London, Paris and Berlin and other European capitals. Study the unfailing punctuality with which aircraft ply between England, Asia Minor, Egypt and India. Contemplate the fact that the England-Australia flight has already been accomplished, the Atlantic already flown. Remember that these feats will shortly develop into regular passenger services. And then read the complaint of E. Hamilton Lee, dean of the United States air mail pilots. He now flies a plane on the Chicago-Omaha division, but he says that flying is not what it was because "they've made it too safe." In an interview with news papermen in his country he said, "We air veterans have had our day. I'm happy to celebrate my millionth mile but I feel the safety measures have taken most of the adventure out of the air mail business."

Of course, one must sympathize with this adventurous soul; but his complaint is perfect evidence that air transportation has become qualified for the complete trust and confidence of the traveling public.—Morning Albertan.

WE OWE HER MUCH

There is a strong disposition on the part of many of her children to comment harshly on mother Alberta, blaming her for giving too liberally of what she happens to be giving and of withholding too callously what it is felt we need.

And yet in many respects, this is a wonderful summer. We complain of heat, yet what heat actually have we experienced that compares with cramped cities or with visits to other countries. Our nights have been gifts from heaven, a benediction of coolness. No returned Albertan, but speaks with a quickened gratitude of our cool night air.

The weather has been ideal for camping, picnicking, holiday making. It is years since we have said with assurance "Let's have a picnic." The proviso "unless it rains" has always been added. It was with trepidation that anyone planned any little outdoor celebration or started any adventure. Yet this year already, we have had two months of fine holiday weather—a steady succession of glorious days, for which we mourned in vain in other years.

And most people after all, have been wise enough to take advantage of the settled weather and have flitted carelessly to and fro on pleasure jaunts without a foreboding or one rain ruined holiday.

For so many years now, we have been plunged into autumn, saying mournfully "We have had no summer at all."

This year we are having a summer, which we will no doubt be remembering in a few months with many kindly thoughts. Let us get every possible benefit from it.

WHO BENEFITS

Wheat is soaring; jumping up three four, ten, eleven cents a day; occasionally falling back as speculators frantically rush to take their profits but heading all the time for—what? $2.00 or $2.50—it doesn't make much difference to farmers whose crops are all burnt out, but it will make a difference to the consumers who will be called upon to pay high prices for flour and bread.

And throughout the West, the small speculator is gleefully rubbing his hands. For once he thinks he is going to beat the market—to cash in and make easy money. Maybe he will—this time, but he lost out rather heavily in the spring; in fact, some can't afford to buy now on a rising market because they were cleaned out three months ago—and those who do will eventually lose—so what's the difference.

A little less speculation on grain—the staple commodity of the world—would possibly result in a more equitable system of production and distribution.—Drumheller Mail.

HONESTY PLUS

For the real sterling virtues we must go back to the Old Land. There is a butcher shop in London, England, in which is hanging a steak which was purchased 93 years ago, to be kept until called for.

The purchaser has perhaps forgotten all about it, in the last few years, but it is still there ready for him when he does call around.

It has shrunk a bit, and by now has lost that fine full flavor which hung about it in the first few years of waiting. But at any hour, day or night, the owner of that steak may collect it.

It is nice to think there is such a form of honesty—over in England. But we don't want local butchers carrying it so far.

A good wall paper cleaner may be made by stirring into a quart of flour a nickel's worth of ammonia and enough water to make a stiff dough. Work it smooth, then wipe the paper with this batch of dough, turning and kneading it so that a clean surface is applied to the paper with each stroke.

"Now doctor," said the patient, "all I need is something to stir me up—put me in fighting trim, you know." "Wait until you get my bill," said the doctor. "That will do it."

One of the best correspondents in the world is the spider. He drops a line on every post.

The man who has rural hauling to do now can buy his own special kind of a truck—the new "International Speed Special." The way International "Six-Speed Special" trucks have been going into rural service the last few months—trains and railroads of them—is the best proof that International Harvesters just what they've always wanted. Six speeds forward and two reverse, four-wheel brake, thrifty operation, speed on the open road, and great pulling power for hard going, are some of the "Six-Speed Special" features.

The keyhole is frequently a fine test for sobriety.

There is a big tomato that scratches my pants, then sits and actually defies me.

"Why don't you throw a brick at him?"
"That's what makes me mad—he gets on top of my greenhouse."

Reputation is a personal possession seldom discovered until lost.

A big tawny patch appeared on the seat of the little boy's breeches. A kindly old lady attracted by the boy's contagious smile wondered aloud: "Why the mother didn't patch his knickerbockers with a color to match?" Overhearing her the boy shouted indignantly: "That ain't no patch, that's me!"

FINED FOR FAILING

A city in the state of Washington has launched a new system for eliminating waste material in the High Schools. The school board has estimated the cost to the ratepayers of four years High School education, at so much per student, per subject. This sum is considered as invested in the student, and he is obliged to prove himself a sound investment. If he fails to pass a reasonable number of units each year, he is fined, and has to pay to the board the cost to them of maintaining him in the subjects in which he is unsuccessful.

While it is not clear how this has worked out, yet one thing is sure. There would be very active interest taken in school affairs. Parents would not relish paying fines. Everybody would watch everybody. The parents would watch the school board, the board would watch the teachers, the teachers would watch the pupils, and the pupils would watch their step.

H TRIMMER RETURNS

Prefers Life in Alberta to Castle Life in England

Mr. and Mrs. H.L. Trimmer of Fridis, have returned to the West after a lengthy visit with the Earl of Egmont.

Mr. Trimmer in speaking of his visit referred to the beauty of the surroundings. The estate covers 1309 acres with four tenant farms. A smaller estate of 450 acres lies 35 miles from the Castle of Avon. Some of the best south of England fishing is to be had on the Avon stream, and the record catch of a 45 lb. salmon, goes far toward reconciling an Albertan to other features of the country. Fine shooting is to be had on the preserves and also wild duck shooting.

One picture in the castle is valued at 40,000 pounds and another 20,000 pounds. The castle contains 40 rooms and a score of servants are required to care for castle and grounds.

Mr. Trimmer says that the Earl maintains that he is satisfied with new responsibilities, but that Viscount Perceval, the son, is quite outspoken in his desire to return to his Albertan home.

BERRYWATER U.F.W.A. PRESENTS PROGRAM

The Berrywater U.F.W.A. entertained on Wednesday, August 7th at the home of Mrs. W. Oldfield, members of the Buffalo Hill U.F.W.A. and Eastway W. L., nearly sixty ladies being present. Mrs. McLean, vice president occupied the chair. During the short business session, a donation to the Vulcan Rest Room was unanimously voted for. The varied program was opened with a well played piano solo by Mrs. Henderson; Mrs. Green was honored for her song; as also was Mrs. Durston and Mrs. W. Campbell for their splendid duet. The recitations by the Misses Nellie Douglass and Ethel Campbell were well rendered, as also was the dialogue in costume by the Misses Will and Della Carr. Mrs. Henderson and Miss Annie McLean responded to an encore for their piano duet. The community singing was accompanied by Mrs. W. Campbell. Mrs. Henderson was heartily applauded for her clever and amusing monologues, and the thanks of the local are extended to all those who so kindly helped with the program. The singing of God Save the King and Auld Lang Syne brought to a close an enjoyable afternoon. Lunch was served by the hostesses and thanks were expressed on behalf of the visitors by Mrs. Lewis and Mrs. M. Ward. The prizewinners in the two contests were Mrs. Ward and Mrs. Sinclair.

THE SCENE AT FRANK

Subconsciously the minds of all who have travelled through Crow's Nest, over the scene of the great Frank slide, have been saddened and distressed at the advertisements painted on the huge boulders along the wayside. These boulders are after all the tombstones of the many victims of the disaster, lying underneath the highway.

It has remained for a Lethbridge Herald correspondent, desirous to remonstrate against this open display of the scene of one of the most terrible tragedies in Alberta's history. He says that prejudices against ordinary bill boards and abandoned autos which clutter the highways, pale before this real disfigurement of an awe inspiring and impressive road. How much better instead of advertisements, if there were inscribed some such words as these "This is nature's memorial to those whom she has buried."

As a matter of fact, all those who know the history of the spot, are so revolted at the sight of the huge admonitions to wear somebody's overalls, because they do not give, that for once advertising fails, and they leave the scene with only the vague memory that one should wear overalls, and forgetting entirely the man who has had the execrable taste to advertise his special brand on tombstones.

GOITRE SURVEY

Agnes McPhail, M.P., for Grey, is contributing interesting stuff to the Hanover Post about her observations during trip through the States. Illinois and Ohio are described as wonderful states with prosperous looking farm places, and abundant crop of corn. She is telling the people there many things about Canada, and particularly stressing the point that Canada is the best customer the U. S. has, having bought from them last year, over $500,000,000 worth of goods. The people she has met are alert, good-hearted and hospitable and believe it is a good business to keep in the good graces of their best customer.

She says, that in spite of all the talk against prohibition she only saw one intoxicated person.

In the matter of goitre she found these middle states almost free from goitre and that dread disease was being diminished very rapidly. She urges upon the government to push the survey of research work along. The general opinion is that the disease is due to the lack of iodine in the daily diet.

LOSING YOUNG FOLK

Hon. R. B. Bennet in a speech made at Stewart, B.C., the most northerly Canadian point on the Pacific, deplored the loss of young Canadians to the American republic.

"If I were in power," he said, "I would enact such laws as would give Canadian boys and girls a chance for self expression and the development of their gifts so that they need not leave Canada. We have lost annually in recent years 100,000 people who had to find jobs in the States. There were no jobs here because we spent $500,000,000 in the last year alone in the purchase of goods from U.S. which should have been bought in Canada. We are exporting our raw products and then exporting our manhood after them to work on these products. And we are buying goods in U. S. which could be made here. Most of the people we are losing are under 45 years of age."

STRANGE VISITORS

An army of fliers in formation invaded the town on Friday evening, all making a perfect landing. These were bugs or flying insects of some strange nature that arrived suddenly in place of the threatening storm. After sticking around for about an hour, they gradually dispersed for parts unknown.
